INVEXANS

- In 2018 Invexans' net income mainly reflects its proportional share in Nexans' net results for the year, which dropped significantly from 2017. This decline mainly reflects lower operating performance, mostly in the High Voltage & Projects and Telecom segments, as well as a loss from the core exposure effect, whereas in 2017 it had reported a gain.
- At Invexans, results decreased owing to expenses related to the establishment of its subsidiary in London and the analysis of new business opportunities, while 2017 included a non-recurring gain from the sale of fixed assets.
- First half 2019 results mostly reflect Nexans' losses, due to significant restructuring expenses, despite strong 37.8% growth in operating income at the French company.

- In 2018 sales reached MUS$3,352, up by 20.5%, mainly due to higher fuel prices, and to a lesser extent, growth in sales volumes. Gross income increased 13.4%, primarily due to higher margins in fuel sales through service stations and in lubricants, together with the higher sales volumes.
- Operating income increased significantly, following the rise in gross income, and due to provisions for legal contingencies established in 2017.
- Net income in 2018 amounted to MUS$28, up by 119.7% from 2017, primarily due to the higher operating income explained above, partly offset by exchange rate losses in 2018 and higher financial costs.
- YTD June 2019, operating results boosted by Road Ranger acquisition. Net income, however, declined due to higher finance costs.

- In 2018 CSAV reported a net gain of MUS$18, reversing the loss reported in 2017, which mostly reflected the accounting loss of US$167 million related to its dilution in Hapag-Lloyd following its merger with UASC. Also worth noting is the improvement in Hapag-Lloyd’s results, with net income reaching US$43.5 million and EBITDA of US$1,345 million, boosted by growth in transported volumes, mainly due to the merger with UASC. Synergies achieved through the merger mitigated the negative impact of higher fuel prices during the year.
- YTD June 2019 results reflect the turnaround in Hapag-Lloyd’s performance from June 2018, based on higher average freight rates and growth in transported volumes, compensating higher fuel costs.

- In 2018, SM SAAM’s consolidated sales reached MUS$516, up by 10.3%, mainly due to higher sales of port terminals, boosted by the foreign ports, and to a lesser extent, higher revenues from tug boats, partially offset by lower sales of logistics.
- Net income reached MUS$50 in 2018, 16.4% below 2017. The non recurring after tax gain of MUS$30.5 derived from the sale of its stake in Tramarsa (Peru), reported in 2017, was largely offset by good operating performance in 2018, particularly in port terminals, based on higher activity at most of the terminals, and a recovery in logistics’ results. Results of tug boats, however, were affected by lower activity in Brazil.
- YTD June 2019 results reflect good operating performance in all business segments, particularly in port terminals and logistics, together with lower corporate expenses.
